

Dwayne Hobbs

Lincoln Memorial University –
Ed. S in Leadership and Administration

University of West Georgia –
MED in Administration and Supervision

Berry College –
BS in Industrial Education

Currently, Dwayne's responsibilities at the Georgia Department of Education involve development and implementation of Career Related Education (CRE) Experiences which include work-based learning opportunities for students. This work involves assessment of the current status, conducting research, meeting with stakeholders, working with certification and credentialing of teachers, managing data and records for WBL students, producing reports for accountability purposes and public relations activities to promote and recognize exemplary results.

Dwayne began working for the Georgia Department of Education after completing a 30 year career with Clayton County Public Schools. Dwayne's career in Clayton County included 22 years in the classroom, 2 years as CTAE supervisor/assistant principal, 5 years as the Youth Apprenticeship Program coordinator/system CTAE coordinator, and 1 year as the system CTAE director.

Dwayne's goal is to provide guidance for world class age appropriate Career Related Experiences that lead to work-based-learning experiences, which help students become successful contributing members of society.

I adhere to the vision of the Career Technical and Agricultural Division of the Georgia Department of Education: To create a student profile of career readiness.

As an employee of the Georgia Department of Education I strive to perform my role in conjunction with the department's vision: We will lead the nation in improving student achievement.