

John Pritchett

University of Georgia – Finishing Doctorate in Workforce Education

University of Georgia – Completed endorsements in Business Education, Educational Leadership

Purdue University – Completed Masters of Arts in Teaching

Purdue University – Completed endorsements in Reading, Computers

Purdue University – Completed Bachelors of Science in Agricultural Communications

John began working for the Georgia Department of Education in June 2007 as the Middle School Curriculum Coordinator. Prior to arriving at the DOE, John was the Assistant Principal at Winder Barrow Middle School for Barrow County Schools from 2001-2007. John also served as the business education teacher at Winder Barrow Middle School from 1997-2001. Before moving to Georgia with his family, John was a member of the Business Education Department at Twin Lakes High School where he taught Computer Applications, Programming, and a few evening adult education computer courses.

As the Middle School Curriculum Coordinator, John plans to keep the middle school CTAE programs growing and moving forward throughout Georgia. CTAE is integral to helping Georgia middle schools increase yearly results by providing CTAE teachers improved curriculum with performance standards, greater relevance between CTAE and academic-content areas, and providing relationships to real world activities for students. Middle school students have many untapped or undiscovered talents that can be brought out through a variety of CTAE courses offered in middle schools. All middle school CTAE curriculum updates will align respectively to their high school CTAE program areas and career pathways.